ENTERTAINMENTS.

For Miss Robins.

Miss Polly Robins, who has been the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Horace Jones, of Portsmouth, during the Easter season, has received much attention in the society circles of Norfolk and surrounding towns. She attended the Easter Germans of both the Norfolk-Old Point German Club and the Portsmouth Academy, and has been the guest of honor at several delightful social functions.

Thursday afternoon Mrs. James Maupin entertained at cards complimentary to Miss Robins. There were four tables, and bridge was the game. The score was kept with jonquils, and the prize, a large bunch of the yellow beauties, was won by Miss Em. Hutton. Miss Robins returned to Richmond yesterday.

Miss Lettwich Hostess.

Miss Carrie Lettwich entertained handsomely at cards Friday evening in her home, No. 201 South Third Street, in honor of the Misses Pleasant, of Wilmington, N. C., who are the guests of the Misses Selden, at No. 215 East Franklin Street. Miss Helen Pleasant won the first ladies' prize.

In Honor of Miss Fry.

Mrs. Bayard Hampton Ellington gave a card party Thursday evening at her home, No. 1817 West Franklin Street. Progressive euchre was played. Miss Emma Fry and Miss Cora Younger being the guests of honor.

Decorations were in palms, ferns and pink roses. The Easter idea was carried out by the game being scored in tiny chickens and rabbits.

The ladies' first prize, a white silk parasol, embroidered in apple blossoms, went to Miss Margaret Williams. The second, a white shopping bag, was won by Miss Carrie Neal. The gentleman's first prize, a silver ash-receiver, was awarded Mr. William Augustine. Miss Emma Bowe's box of chocolates proved a genuine consolation.

In Honor of Miss Lewis.

Miss Annie Lee Currin, of Oxford, N. C., gave a elegant reception Wednesday afternoon in honor of her guests, Miss Louise Lewis and Miss Isabelle Parham, of Oxford, N. C.

The house was beautifully decorated with American Beauty roses and potted plants. Delicious and dainty refreshments were served during the afternoon, and a punch-bowl was gracefully presided over by Misses Gertrude Landis and Jeannette Gregory.

Those assisting Miss Currin in receiving were Misses Lewis, Parham, Furman, Grimley, Augusta Landis and Mrs. C. D. Ray.

Tribute to President.

A beautiful banquet was given at the Williamsburg by the faculty of William and Mary College to their president, Dr. Lyon G. Tyler. The dining-room of the hotel was a dream of loveliness, decorated in orange and white—the college colors—the idea being elaborated in pennants, primroses and white lilies.

The party assembled in the banquet hall at 8:30. A delightful dinner of eight courses was served. Those present were: President and Mrs. Tyler, Miss Julia Tyler, Miss Lizzie Tyler, Dr. and Mrs. Hall, Dr. and Mrs. Ritchie, Professor and Mrs. Lottman, Dr. and Miss Alice Wharton, Dr. and Mrs. Bishop, Dr. and Mrs. Stubs, Professor Crawford and Miss Jean Mercer, Dr. Van Garret and Miss Lottie Garret.

After dinner punch was served. Miss Virginia Brathwaite did the honors at the punch table, assisted by Miss Ellen Chandler, of Boston. Dr. Hall, as toastmaster, did justice to the occasion. Each professor was called upon for a toast and responded very promptly, after which Dr. Tyler gave a most beautiful address of thanks and appreciation.
